political uncertainty. On the Black Sea coast and the shores of the Aegean, farmers, scientists, fishermen, and families grapple with livelihoods in transition, as their environment is bound up in national and international conservation projects. Bridges and drainage canals, apartment buildings and highways—as well as the birds, water buffalo, and various animals of the regions—all inform a moral ecology in the making. Drawing on six years of fieldwork in wetlands and deltas, Caterina Scaramelli offers an anthropological understanding of sweeping environmental and infrastructural change, and the moral claims made on livability and materiality in Turkey, and beyond. Beginning from a moral ecological position, she takes into account the notion that politics is not simply projected onto animals, plants, soil, water, sediments, rocks, and other non-human beings and materials. Instead, “we” and “nature” are “other,” perhaps even antagonistic, with the potential for conflict, cooperation, or transformation. Scaramelli highlights the aspirations, moral relations, and care practices in constant play in contestations and alliances over environmental change. “The influential artist Hedi Kyle and renowned architecture graduate Ulla Warchol shows you how to create their unique designs using folding techniques. Decisions Together in Married Life

Introduction: Making Decisions

Communication and Active Listening

Effective communication is the cornerstone of any relationship, and it involves giving your partner undivided attention, suspending judgment, and demonstrating empathy. By actively listening to your spouse, you validate their understanding, and compromise between partners. By mastering these skills, couples can shape their future and the strength of their bond. The ability to navigate these decisions as a team, with mutual respect and consideration for each other’s needs and desires, is the cornerstone of healthy and happy marriage. This book, “Making Decisions Together in Married Life,” aims to equip couples with the necessary tools and insights to enhance their decision-making process. We will explore practical strategies that foster effective communication, understanding, and compromise between partners. By mastering these skills, couples can build a stronger foundation for their relationship and cultivate a sense of unity that will withstand the tests of time.

Throughout this book, we will delve into the importance of open and honest communication, active listening, and empathetic understanding. We will learn how to identify and harmonize individual values and priorities to create shared goals that reflect the essence of the partnership. We will discuss the significance of flexibility and compromise, recognizing that both partners bring unique perspectives and strengths to the table. Conflict is an inevitable part of any relationship, and we will discover constructive ways to address disagreements while preserving the love and respect between spouses. Moreover, this book will guide couples in navigating long-term planning, envisioning their future together, and the joy of achieving milestones as a united front. We will examine ways to balance responsibilities, embrace equality, and support each other’s growth and personal endeavors. As a business owner, you may find yourself needing to navigate business decisions together with your spouse. The key is to develop a shared commitment to building a thriving partnership, couples can navigate life’s challenges hand in hand and create a love that lasts a lifetime.

In this chapter, we will explore the vital components of communication and delve into the art of active listening. 1.1 The Power of Communication: Communication is not merely about words; it involves understanding and connecting with your partner on a deeper level. In this chapter, we will explore the vital components of communication and delve into the art of active listening. 1.1 The Power of Communication: Communication is not merely about conveying information; it is about expressing feelings, thoughts, and desires in a way that fosters understanding and emotional intimacy. It involves both verbal and non-verbal cues, such as body language, facial expressions, and tone of voice. When partners communicate openly and honestly, they create an environment of trust and vulnerability, enabling them to share their joys, concerns, and challenges. 1.2 Barriers to Effective Communication: Despite its significance, communication can be hindered by various barriers. These may include distractions, preconceived notions, defensiveness, and unresolved conflicts. Identifying these obstacles is crucial to overcoming them and promoting healthy dialogue between partners. 1.3 Active Listening: The Art of Understanding: Active listening is the cornerstone of effective communication. It involves giving your partner undivided attention, suspending judgment, and demonstrating empathy. By actively listening to your spouse, you validate their emotions and experiences, showing that their thoughts and feelings are valued. 1.4 Techniques for Active Listening: - Maintain eye contact: Establishing visual connection demonstrates attentiveness and encourages openness in your partner. - Provide verbal and non-verbal cues: Nodding, using affirming phrases, and mirroring emotions convey that you are engaged and understanding. - Paraphrase and summarize: Rephrase what your partner has shared to ensure you correctly comprehend their perspective. - Avoid interrupting: Allow your partner to express themselves fully before responding, as interruptions can be frustrating and counterproductive. - Express empathy: Acknowledge your partner’s feelings and experiences, even if you don’t necessarily agree with them. 1.5 Creating a Safe Space for Communication: To foster open communication, partners must feel safe expressing their thoughts and feelings without fear of judgment or emotional arousal. This involves cultivating an atmosphere of mutual respect and understanding, where both individuals feel heard and valued. Remember that disagreements are natural in any relationship, and addressing them constructively can strengthen the bond between partners.

1.6 Honesty and Transparency: Honesty is the foundation of trust in a marriage. Encouraging open and transparent communication enables both partners to share their thoughts and emotions freely, leading to a deeper emotional connection. Conclusion: Effective communication and active listening are essential skills in any marriage. By embracing open dialogue, validating each other’s feelings, and working on shared goals, couples can strengthen their emotional bond and create a thriving partnership. In the next chapter, we will explore how to identify individual values and priorities to establish a strong foundation for making decisions together. Table of Contents

It was with great surprise that I began to see the trend of divorces forever, and never ever to be broken up under any circumstances. So old-fashioned traditions, for every one of us, marriage is once and naturally thanks to our upbringing, culture, and one may almost say spouses, even after becoming a widow or widower. I also have been again, because they still considered themselves married to their "till death do us part." And even then, many partners did not marry counseling, because the option of divorce, a couple splitting up was unheard of, in their culture, traditions, and upbringing. For them, marriage was a once-in-a-lifetime proposition, to be ended only after "till death do us part." And even then, many partners did not marry again, because they still considered themselves married to their spouses, even after becoming a widow or widower. I also have been brought up in such a supposedly old-fashioned milieu, and society, naturally thanks to our upbringing, culture, and one may almost say old-fashioned traditions, for every one of us, marriage is once and forever, and never ever to be broken up under any circumstances. So it was with great surprise, that I began to see the trend of divorces gaining popularity, because that had become a modern fashionable option, and if so many people in the West were doing it, this was of course the best way of getting out of a partnership which one had begun considering to be a bit of a drag, and look for more exciting options elsewhere. Sadly enough, you are going to be surprised to know that statistics say that 27% of married American men are going to have an extramarital affair, just because it happened and they could not control it. Isn't it interesting to know that just three generations ago, their own grandparents considered extramarital affairs to be a thing of shame, not a thing of which a virtuous responsible father or husband did, and faithfulness was a part of his principles, upbringing, tradition, and culture. He believed in his marriage vows. And so did his wife. And using him as an example, his children followed in his steps. But then suddenly in the 70s, 80s, and 90s, it began to be fashionable to divorce and marry again, not understanding about the emotional, psychological, spiritual, physical, and mental trauma this would have on all the members of the family, parents, and children.
