‘I Had a Black Dog’ is a comic, fun and heart wrenching story about one man (a representative for all of us) in his struggle with depression and the various different forms in which it reveals itself to us. ‘I Had a Black Dog’ is for anyone who has ever suffered with or knows someone who has suffered with some form of depression or anxiety. A beautiful heart-warming story. Small Nose Productions is privileged to have the sole rights to create a theatrical adaptation of this wonderful and helpful book.

Small Nose Productions and The Britten Partnership would like to invite you to the premiere of this brand new show at the Key Theatre in Peterborough.

When...
Tuesday 6th to Saturday 10th October at 7.45 pm, with School matinées at 11am on Thursday and Friday.

In conjunction with the shows on Thursday 8th October, The Britten Partnership is organising a Black Dog Exhibition showcasing local support organisations, charities and services focusing on Mental Health. Running between 11:30 and 19:30, the exhibition is open to the general public as well as theatre goers and school groups, and will also include a chance to meet the performers.

This exhibition offers an excellent opportunity to promote your organisation and if you or a colleague would like to have a stand or participate in some other way we would be delighted to hear from you.

Dog Walkers needed - How to get involved...
- Watch a Performance – to book your tickets visit www.vivacity-peterborough.com
- Visit the Black Dog Exhibition – email lydia@brittenpartnership.co.uk for details
- Be part of the Black Dog Exhibition – complete and return the attached booking form to lydia@brittenpartnership.co.uk

Small Nose Productions and The Britten Partnership look forward to welcoming you to this exciting show.