

Royal College of General Practitioners

Applications are now open for our April 2018 intake

Background

The Clinical Innovation and Research Centre (CIRC) manages a number of high profile 12 month clinically focused projects at the Royal College of General Practitioners (RCGP).

CIRC supports GPs and practice staff through four main programme areas:

- Clinical Priorities
- Innovation
- Quality Improvement
- Research

Project Areas

Each year, we select new projects which complement our existing work to join our programmes. Previous projects have included:

- Cancer
- End of Life Care
- Person-centred Care
- Quality Improvement in Diabetes
- Research Fellowships
- Good Practice Safeguarding

Royal College of General Practitioners

Applications are now open for our April 2018 intake

Who can apply?

All College members, country councils, faculties, committees, boards and groups, affiliated primary care societies, other royal colleges, charities, and patients. Individuals from organisations, whether members of the RCGP or not, are also encouraged to apply.

Applications are particularly welcomed that include quality improvement, innovation, and research elements, as well as having a clear clinical focus. Illustrating patient and carer consultation in planning and delivery, secondary care interface, and the development of training and learning resources for GPs and practice staff is also key.

How to Apply

Complete and return an 'Expression of Interest' Form and we will be in touch to work with you to further develop your application and support you through the process.
